We know underwriting can sometimes feel complex, so we've made it easier for you with our brand-new Underwriting FAQs section.

Now, you can quickly find answers to our most common questions, including:

- How long does it take to assess an application?
- Will medical evidence be needed?
- Can I get an indication of a decision before submitting an application?
- How long is a decision valid for?

We've kept everything clear, simple, and in everyday language – so you can get the information you need, fast.

And this is just the start! Over the coming weeks, we'll be updating more of our underwriting content to make it even more helpful and easier to navigate.

If there's anything else you'd like us to cover in this section, we'd love to hear your feedback!

All the best,
